Purpose and legitimacy of the treatment

1. Management of the contractual relationship. We can process your data for this purpose because there is a contract and a legitimate interest in its execution.
2. Accounting management. We may process your data for this purpose because there is a legal obligation established in the Royal Decree of 22 August 1885 publishing the Commercial Code.
3. Fiscal management. We may process your data for this purpose because there is a legal obligation established in the General Tax Law 58/2003 and other applicable legislation.
4. Sending offers, products or similar services that may be of interest. We may process your data because we have a legitimate interest in the development of the company's business.
5. Maintaining customer records. We may process your data because we have a legitimate interest in maintaining a history of customers, the products purchased from them and prices for the possible resumption of the contractual relationship in the future.

Retention of data

Your data will be kept for the time necessary to achieve the stated purposes and, duly blocked, for the longest period of limitation in accordance with the applicable legislation.

Obligation to provide the data

The data requested are necessary to formalise the relationship, otherwise the contract cannot be concluded or executed.

Recipients of data

- a) The data necessary to comply with the legal obligations with the Tax Administration will be communicated to the Tax Administration.
- b) The data that are necessary to make the bank deposits and payments derived from the contractual relationship will be communicated to banking institutions.
- c) We will communicate to insurance and reinsurance companies, insurance and reinsurance brokers, lawyers, solicitors, courts and tribunals the data that are necessary for the collection / payment of compensation or for the attention of the exercise or defence of claims.
- d) The data necessary for the correct provision of the services contracted to them will be communicated to our data processors.

In those cases in which a transfer of data, or a use of the same, other than that indicated in the previous sections, must be notified, you will be informed following the usual channels.

Transfer of data to third countries

International data transfers will not be carried out.

Rights of the data subject

- Access: the right to obtain confirmation as to whether or not we are processing your personal data, to know what it is, what it is used for, how long it will be kept, the origin of the data and whether it has been or will be communicated to a third party.
- Rectification: the right to request the rectification of inaccurate data and the completion of incomplete personal data.
- Deletion: the right to request the deletion of personal data when they are inadequate, excessive or no longer necessary for the purposes for which they were collected, including the right to be forgotten.
- Opposition: the right to object, in certain circumstances, to the processing of your personal data or to request that the processing be stopped.
- Limitation of processing: the right to request, in the legally established circumstances, that your data not be processed beyond the mere conservation of the same.
- Portability: the right to receive personal data in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format and to be able to transmit it to another data controller, provided that this is technically possible.

Exercise of rights
